Hack the Anvil
Purdue University – March 6-8, 2015

Overview

Our team's mission is to ignite a group of imaginative, ambitious, and inspired hackers at Purdue University. That's why we are hosting the first-ever Hack the Anvil, a 36-hour, 400-Purdue-student hackathon where teams of Boilermakers craft hardware and software projects that solve important real-world problems. Hack the Anvil ties together the ever-growing hacker community at Purdue with top-tier companies to support the development of remarkable student projects and personal relationships.

Why us?

Our team believes hackathons are changing the standard for recruitment and we want your company to be a part of it! Hack the Anvil connects your company to the most innovative students Purdue has to offer. Not only will you have the opportunity to talk with hundreds of students, you can see them accomplish amazing challenges right in front of you.
